

WORKERS' COMPENSATION CLAIMS

Kemberton's experienced team of attorneys, paralegals, and claims specialists turn clients' non-collectible dollars into revenue.

OUR PROCESS

Kemberton's in-house team of experts has a four-step, contingency-based process to ensure that our clients are paid for workers' compensation claims. These steps include:

1. Identify and confirm patient's employer and workers' compensation carrier in order to bill and submit required documentation.

These actions accelerate Kemberton's ability to submit claims and turn around cash.

2. Follow up with workers' compensation carriers regularly to confirm receipt of all necessary documentation, and to verify claim status.

Expedited payment resolution for clients is Kemberton's primary goal, and this step ensures that our clients' bills are processed in an efficient manner.

3. Submit appeals for claims that are denied or paid incorrectly.

Careful review of processed and paid claims is vital to ensuring that our clients are receiving the maximum reimbursement possible.

4. Report to client's specifications; provide access to Kemberton's system and account notes.

Customized reports and access to Kemberton's system create transparency and enable clients to measure Kemberton's performance and success.
